Progress Is Busy

The small district school, with its one or two dozen pupils, (often less) is under indictment, not merely in sections of Santa Clara valley, but quite generally all over the United States. Why? Because it is thought by those who have given the matter serious consideration that the small school, as a separate unit, has served its time and era.

In the business world it has been proven that closer organization has meant not only conservation of energy, time and material, but greater efficiency and higher profits.

With the rest of the world forging ahead and adopting Twentieth century ideas, why should our country school system remain practically as it was fifty years ago.

Consolidation of schools is but a belated reform that is forcing its way into the educational world, and it is for Santa Clara county, and the Campbell section particularly, to decide whether they will be among leaders, or followers, in this movement for higher educational standards in Santa Clara county.

Improved roads and means of transportation have helped to make this movement possible. The other distinct factor is the will of the people.

Surely those who have favored a movement for the better homes, better towns, better traveling and farming facilities, will not hesitate to support a movement for the betterment of the public schools.

We would not minimize the importance of our small district schools. They have truly been one of the "bulwarks of our democracy." Some of our ablest men have started their educational careers in them; but we must consider that success is frequently due, more to brains, health and wholesome country surroundings, than to any early educational advantages men may receive.

Granting that teachers in the rural districts are as competent, or more so than those in towns or cities, it goes without saying that their efficiency is pretty badly handicapped in trying to hear forty or more classes a day, instead of those confined to one or two grades.

There may be localities where it will always be practical to keep the small district as it is. There are also corners of the earth where the sickle and scythe are still used to advantage, but the world is pretty generally convinced that reapers and harvesters have more than justified their existence in the profits they pay.

I know the consolidation of Campbell and San Tomas school districts into one strong school center will more than justify its existence by the profit it will bring to the children and people of these communities.

It is only the beginning of better things for the rural schools. The time will come when country children will have access to every department of service that is furnished those being educated in the cities.

R. I. Rodriguez.

Helpful Conference Held at Campbell

A most interesting and beneficial meeting of the Congregational district conference was held in Campbell last week. Delegates were present from all parts of the district, which comprises San Mateo, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz and Monterey counties. Several excellent and enthusiastic talks were given, but by far the best was the closing sermon, by the Rev. Raymond C. Brooks, pastor of the First Congregational church of Berkeley. He declared that the solution of present day chaos must be intellectually straight, morally sound, socially just and spiritually alive.

The convention elected the following officers for the year: Moderator, Rev. F. C. Rolfs, Saratoga; assistant moderator, Mr. Geo. N. Stray, Campbell; registrar-treasurer, Rev. W. E. Eckles, Sunnyvale; preacher, Rev. R. B. Cherrington, Palo Alto; alternate, Rev. F. A. Bissell, Sequel; credentials committee, Rev. E. A. King, of San Jose, Rev. B. M. Palmer, of Pacific Grove and Rev. C. G. Marshall, of Sunnyvale; missionary committee, Rev. W. E. Eckles, Sunnyvale, Rev. H. L. Preston, Campbell and Mrs. E. R. Wagner, San Jose; committee on evangelism, Rev. B. C. Preston, Palo Alto, Rev. C. H. Stevens, Redwood City, Rev. N. W. Hare, Santa Cruz; social service committee, Rev. G. E. Atkinson, San Jose, Dr. H. R. Baldwin and Rev. R. B. Cherrington, Palo Alto; fellowship committee, the moderator, the registrar, and Rev. C. G. Marshall, of Sunnyvale.

BOY SCOUTS

(Conducted by National Council of the Boy Scouts of America.)

WHERE REAL SCOUTS SHINE

The boy who learns fire building thoroughly is a safe inhabitant of the forest. The boy who goes abroad with two matches and a new ax as his sole equipment is a menace to himself, the good name of scouting, and the safety of the woods into which he ventures.

Accordingly the ability to build a fire in the open, using not more than two matches, is a second-class scout requirement, and in actual practice it is one of the first things a boy should study upon entering the great brotherhood.

When the red gods call and the weather man favors, any lad can entice flame, ignite a glorious smudge, singe his eyebrows, and come home with a feeling that potatoes baked in an oven are better than potatoes cremated in a bonfire.

It is the scoutmaster's high privilege to initiate his boys into the charmed circle of real scouts to whom unpropitious weather is no barrier, and to build in their hearts, not only the pattern of the teepee fire and many other arrangements of fuel and draft, but to build also, love of the growing tree, love of an unscarred and unburned woodland, love of an entirely extinguished fire marked by two unburned crossed sticks and unshamed by waste paper and tin cans.

SCOUTS' FIRST-AID DRILL.

How the Youngsters Train to Render Aid When There is an Emergency.

HOW SCOUTS AID IN FORESTRY.

The approval of scout co-operation in forestry work was given by John H. Wallace, Jr., commissioner of conservation in Alabama:

"The Boy Scouts of Alabama have recently rendered this department a distinctive service by placing in conspicuous places, throughout their respective communities, our conservation posters.

"I regard the friendship and co-operation of the Boy Scouts of Alabama as among the most valuable assets of this department in creating a wholesome public sentiment favorable to the enforcement of the laws of this state for the protection of our national resources."

DOINGS OF THE BOY SCOUTS.

Gaffney (S. C.) Troop No. 1 was particularly successful in collecting books for service men and raised $115.00 for a poor family.

Des Moines, Ia., scouts, during the student volunteer convention met 6,000 delegates at the railroad depot and escorted them to registration bureaus, checked their baggage, and supplied information at official booths.

The Pennsylvania state game commission called upon the boy scouts to enlist in the movement to feed the birds, whose source of food was cut off by snow. The department had a force of men at work feeding quail and wild turkey in the central Pennsylvania districts.

Scouts of Troop No. 2 of Effingham guarded a disabled mail airplane both day and night.

Andover (N. H.) boy scouts ran the snow plow through town and saved wood for the poor.

Naugatuck (Conn.) Troop No. 2 returned a lost child to its parents, and searched for a lost aviator.

Identification cards for boys scouts have been prepared by Mayor Stauffer of Reading, Pa. They contain the seal of the city, and will be numbered and listed so that the city knows to whom each card has been issued.

HOME IS LOST BY 15-MINUTE DELAY

Aged Resident Sees Home He Built 34 Years Ago Go Under Hammer

San Francisco.—Because Mrs. Elizabeth Harley of 3019 Sacramento street was fifteen minutes late returning with the money to meet her bid on the James Geary property at 2370 Sutter street, put up at auction, the little house that Geary built thirty-four years ago with his own hands fell to the Security Savings Bank in satisfaction of the judgment of $2,368.14 obtained by the bank against C. D. Meloy, administrator of the estate of Emily P. Geary, and against James Geary, her widower, and Hazlitt Lee Belton, her grandson.

The little house was sold at auction at the Polk street entrance of the City Hall, while Geary, 81 years old, waited on a bench in the Civic Center plaza to learn what happened. Mrs. Harley was the successful bidder, offering $2,500 for the property.

It was necessary for her to go to the bank for the money, and she was allowed until 1:45 o'clock to return. Court Commissioner Martin P. Bruton, who conducted the auction, waited until 2 o'clock, and then, since Mrs. Harley had not returned, reopened the auction. The bank repeated its bid and was awarded the property.

Fifteen minutes later Mrs. Harley came back with the money, but too late to make her bid good.

Geary says he was married thirty-two years ago to a widow, learning after the marriage that she had a grandson, Hazlitt L. Pelton, by a previous marriage. He deeded the Sutter street property to her.

Later, he said, she deeded it to Pelton without informing her husband, and Pelton mortgaged it for $2,000. Mrs. Geary died four years ago. The property is said to be worth about $4,000.

Under the law a year is allowed in which the property may be redeemed before final title passes to the bank.

A prayer meeting was held at Geary's house by Rev. Frederick Doane of Mizpah Presbyterian Church and several friends who prayed that the house might be bought by some one who would allow Geary to keep possession.

SOCIALISTS NAME DEBS FOR PRESIDENT

Federal Prisoner Is Selected as Candidate at New York Convention

New York.—The national convention of the Socialist party May 13th acclaimed Eugene V. Debs its candidate for the fifth time for President of the United States.

A twenty-one minute ovation followed Debs' formal nomination, as "the Lincoln of the Wabash".

Seymour Stedman of Chicago, general counsel of the party, was nominated for Vice President by unanimous vote on the second ballot. The first vote for him was 106 against 26 for Mrs. Kate Richards O'Hare, of Kansas City.

In nominating Debs the Socialist party of America signified its determination "not to recede one inch from our revolutionary programme". Morris Hillquit, of New York, leader of the "conservative" forces, declared, "Socialism in the United States has not changed and does not intend to change," he said.

Another ovation greeted his declaration.

A special committee of five, headed by Hillquit, left for Washington, where it had an appointment with Attorney General Palmer to plead for amnesty for all "political prisoners" throughout the country.

San Francisco.—A man who says he is Jim Koster and that he is 90 years old was found wandering near Haight and Stanyan streets at 3 o'clock a. m., May 13th, by the police. He could not tell anything about his family or where he lived. He was taken to the Detention Hospital.

Quite a Different Matter

The egg-shaped headed young masher had begged for the hand and heart of the wealthy bacon curer's daughter and has been promptly booted down the steps by the old man.

His daughter who had witnessed the scene, came tearfully to remonstrate with her father.

"Papa", she sobbed, "you should not have treated him so! You can have no idea how he loves me! He is willing to die for me this minute!"

"Well," said the old man, as he scratched his head thoughtfully, "I'm sorry I made a mistake. I don't know that there can be any objection to that; I was afraid he wanted to marry you."—London Tit-Bits.

$50,000 DRUGS SEIZED IN RAID

Five Men Arrested When Federal Agents and Police Raid Hotel

San Francisco.—In a raid upon the D'Olorono Hotel at 55 Columbus avenue, May 14th, the Federal authorities and the police found narcotics valued at more than $50,000 and nearly five hundred gallons of wine, whisky and gin. Five men were arrested by the police. They are: Peter Sahores, John Nelson, Camille Pardie and John Orogten.

With the discovery, the Federal operatives believe the center of a wholesale drug ring has been found. The place has been under the eye of the authorities for some time.

According to the police, the liquor was kept in a small room between the barber shop and the hotel lobby. The narcotics were found in a large trunk in the basement.

The five men were charged with violating the national prohibition act, the Harrison narcotic act and the Internal Revenue laws. The raid was conducted by A. A. Elliott of the Internal Revenue Department; J. W. Smith, customs service; Inspectors Otto Thompson and William Lyons. Police Sergeant Peter Heinrichs and Policeman James Rae.

The authorities then raided the Eiffel Tower Hotel, across the street, and Joe Guerrero and Bee Oiano were arrested and charged with violating the national prohibition act. Several bottles of liquor were found in the place.

SHIPPING BOARD PUTS 563,813 TONS ON PACIFIC

Within the past nine months the United States Shipping Board has put 563,813 deadweight tons of shipping in the Pacific, has established a coastwise service of 16 vessels in the Far East, running from North China to Calcutta, and has arranged for the addition of 14 big passenger lines to trans-Pacific trade, according to an announcement of the board's office.

The Far East coastwise service is unique in that none of the vessels touch at an American port and it is as distinctively Far Eastern as if it were being operated by China, India or Japan. The object of this service is to supply "feeders" for the trans-Pacific routes recently established or added to by the Shipping Board in the allocation of vessels to American Pacific ports. The boats operate on the routes lateral to the transoceanic routes, serving the same purpose as railroad short lines connecting with overland business. The boats average 4,000 deadweight tons and are proving a big factor in opening up the vast resources of North China, the Shipping Board said.

An important contemplated route is that between Puget Sound points and Buenos Aires by way of the Straits of Magellan. It has been found that this route is approximately 1,000 miles shorter than the Panama canal route. A boat a month will be put on this route and the service will be established within 60 days, the board said. The route will be a new one for American trade in every sense of the word.

New routes created or added to by the Shipping Board on the Pacific in the last nine months are:

San Francisco to Singapore, Ceylon, Straits Settlements; Portland to North China ports; around the world, starting from San Francisco and Japanese, Chinese and Indian points, going through the Suez canal to European points and thence to the Atlantic; Puget Sound points to San Francisco, San Pedro and through the canal to European points; Puget Sound to New Zealand and Australia.

These routes have meant the employment of 25 Shipping Board boats clearing out of San Francisco, four out of Los Angeles, 23 out of Seattle and 12 out of Portland. The 14 passenger boats, the first of which will be put on about Sept. 1, will be in addition to those noted. These passenger liners, which will be palatial, will clear out of Puget Sound points and San Francisco and will all be used on the Far Eastern routes.

A regular route between Puget Sound points and San Francisco and the west coast of South America is in contemplation.

HOUSER IS CLEARED SAYS PALMER

Spokane Grand Jury Profiteering Charges Unsupported, Report He Gets

Washington.—Federal investigation has not sustained charges that Max H. Houser, second vice president of the United States Grain Corporation, had used his office to manipulate grain prices and reap immense profits, Attorney General Palmer announced May 13th.

The investigation was made at Houser's request after a Spokane Grand Jury had made public accusations, although it returned no indictment. United States Attorney Humphreys of Portland, Ore., was designated to conduct the investigation, and his findings, together with a report by George R. Mayo, special accountant for the Department of Justice, were made public by Palmer.

Humphreys summed up the results of his examination in the statement that the Grand Jury's charges "were without foundation in fact".

"I find that Houser, personally, and through his milling companies, did not make immense profits," Humphreys stated. "The profits were small. There was no violation of law, no improper use by Houser of his position, and no evidence of manipulations of wheat prices by officials of the grain corporation. On the contrary, the evidence indicates that Houser sacrificed his time and business to the grain corporation."

The Grand Jury report accused Houser of having caused the publication of articles saying that unless farmers sold their wheat they would be liable to prosecution. Humphreys said such an article had been published, but that there has been no evidence showing Houser had "inspired or approved it."

All newspapers in zone No. 10, of which Houser had charge, were advised by him immediately that the article was erroneous, the report said.

Net profits of the Pacific Grain Company and the Portland Flouring Mills Company, both owned by Houser, were said by Mayo to have been equal to 4-5 per cent of the invested capital for the period covered in the Grand Jury charges. He added that his investigation disclosed no foundation for the charge that "half a dozen concerns" own all of the milling industry in the Northwest, citing the record of Federal licenses issued to 273,000,000 corporations "with 232 different owners."

KILLING OF BANKER IN L. A. NARRATED

Los Angeles.—George Goldbach, 28 years old, said to have been at one time an inmate of a hospital for the insane, confessed, the police announced, that he had killed H. J. Robbins, retired banker of Shelton, Neb., the night of May 3, because Robbins "tried to crowd him off the sidewalk."

Goldbach was taken into custody two days ago and held for observation.

Goldbach, according to the police, told of meeting Robbins, who was 68 years old, early the night of May 3. "He seemed to want to crowd me off the sidewalk," Goldbach was quoted. "That made me mad. I hit him three times. When he fell I took a rope from around my waist and started to tie his hands with it. The rope slipped and went around his neck. Then I drew it tight and choked him to death. I did not intend to kill him when I started."

Goldbach declared, according to the police, he had no remembrance of hiding the body under two bales of straw in the rear of a vacant house where it was found the next morning.

OFFICERS UNCOVER STILL AND BRANDY IN CASTRO VALLEY

Oakland.—In a raid at the Felix Arnold ranch in Castro valley, near Hayward, Prohibition Enforcement Officers A. R. Shurtleff and F. E. Adams discovered a large still in operation and found two attendants caring for the product.

A shed near the still revealed 700 gallons of raisin mash and 75 gallons of "grappa," commonly known as "jackass" brandy.

Arnold and the two employees, Andrew Borden and Amati Disero, were placed under arrest on the charge of conspiring to violate the national prohibition law. This is the first conspiracy charge in the state since the advent of national prohibition. Under the new law conspiracy is a felony and the crime is punishable by two years in prison.

The officers cooled off the still and confiscated it, with the mash and the finished product.

Arnold, Borden and Disero were brought before Federal Commissioner Francis Krull and held to answer for trial in the United States District court. Fifteen hundred dollars in Liberty bonds was put up for their appearance in court.

Arnold has been ranching in the Castro valley for a number of years and has a family.

HONOLULU GETS NEXT FORESTERS CONVENTION

San Francisco Man Made High Chief Ranger

Berkeley.—The nineteenth annual convention of the Pacific district, Ancient Order of Foresters, closed May 13 with a banquet at the Hotel Whitecotton. Nearly 300 delegates have been in attendance at the convention.

Honolulu was selected as the next meeting place for the annual convention at a business meeting this morning. The sum of $500 was appropriated to the National Foresters' memorial fund, and a resolution was adopted calling for the preservation of the redwoods.

Before the end of the closing session a resolution favoring anti-Japanese legislation, which had been considered at previous meetings, was passed. The resolution favors any steps that are now being taken to have laws, either state or national, passed to preserve California for Americans.

It further recites that it appears that the Japanese are making a peaceful invasion of California and are attempting to crowd the Americans from the rich valley lands, where the Nipponese are rapidly gaining the upper hand.

Officers elected at the closing session follow:

High chief ranger, Walter Reed of San Francisco; sub high chief ranger, E. C. Risi of Oakland; high court treasurer, R. Eber of San Francisco; high court secretary, James H. Duncan of San Francisco; high court senior woodward, M. F. Marshall of San Jose; high court junior woodward, William Trathen of Grass Valley; high court senior beadle, Thos. F. Shaw of Oakland; high court junior beadle, Dr. A. C. Thompson of Reno, Nev.; permanent secretary, John Falconer of San Francisco; high court trustees, A. L. Butler of Los Angeles; S. J. Madeira of Mendocino City and M. P. Howe of Petaluma.

EVILS IN "DRY" LAW SEEN BY MARSHALL

Richmond.—Vice President Marshall, speaking before the Virginia Bar Association, declared that if national prohibition had been considered by the Senate in secret session not 20 votes would have been cast for it.

Asserting that there should be less tinkering with the Constitution the Vice President expressed the opinion that constitutional amendments had "brought a very large measure of evil to the Republic."

Marshall predicted that in the future the country would be faced by the question of Government of law or of men, declaring that only two men—Samuel Gompers and Judge Elbert H. Gary—now are consulted on public issues.

By a rising vote the association favored the nomination of Marshall for the Presidency.

San Francisco.—Elizabeth A. Murphy, 13 years old, 4811 Webster street, Oakland, was killed instantly when she was struck by a street car at Park boulevard and East Twentieth street, Oakland. Her body was wedged under the trucks and it was necessary to summon the Fire Department to remove it.

San Francisco.—While the lobby below was thronged with men and women and the orchestra was playing, two women, Mrs. Harry Harrington of Los Angeles, and her afternoon guest, Mrs. J. E. M. Roberts, wife of a London mining engineer, were held up and robbed of diamond jewelry valued at $10,000.

DISINFECT SEED BED TO PREVENT DISEASE

Before Planting Be Sure to Destroy All Fungi.

Sterilization by Heat in Form of Steam is Most Effective—Formalin Treatment May Be More Practical for Majority.

(By OTIS REINKING, Colorado Agricultural College, Fort Collins, Colo.)
Be sure to disinfect your seed beds, cold frames or hot house beds before planting. The purpose is to kill all fungi which cause damping off, stem rot, black rot, and other diseases.
Sterilization by heat in the form of steam is the most effective; however, the formalin treatment may be more practical for the majority.

The formalin solution is made up by using 4 quarts of formalin (40 per cent formaldehyde to 50 gallons (1 barrel) of water. Apply at the rate of 2 quarts per square foot of ground.
One barrel, at this rate, will cover a piece of ground one rod long by six feet wide. Apply the solution gradually to the soil with a sprinkling pot.
It is well to cover the bed for 24 hours with sacks disinfected in the formalin solution.

Do not plant until the third or fourth day after disinfecting, or until the ground is in a suitable condition.
This will allow all formalin fumes to escape so that the seed and young growing plants will not be injured.

SEED TESTER QUITE SIMPLE

Inexpensive Contrivance Completes Envelope Enfolded Pad Which Retains Moisture.

The Scientific American in illustrating and describing a seed tester invented by A. F. Esslinger of Ypsilanti, Mich., says: The object of the invention is to provide a simple, and inexpensive contrivance for testing seeds.
The tester comprises an envelope

Showing Manner in Which Seeds Are Enclosed in Tester.

formed by folding longitudinally the outer member and stitching it at one of the edges, this envelope enfolds a pad which absorbs and retains moisture for a period sufficient to cause germination of the seeds. The envelope is stitched longitudinally and transversely, to form sections each of which is numbered for identification purposes.

SOIL FERTILITY IS LACKING

Many Unprofitable Pastures Need Reseeding or Liberal Application of Plant Food.

Many pastures gradually prove unprofitable not from overgrazing or seasonable conditions but from lack of soil fertility. This is especially true where cattle, sheep, etc., graze in an open field and then run into some shady spot to rest, so conditions should be carefully studied. In some cases it will be found that the pasture needs reseeding, though in many cases it will be learned that it is overgrazing or lack of available fertility in the soil that causes the decline, in which case removing the stock for a time if from overgrazing or the application of the necessary plant food if the latter will prove profitable.

CONFINED FOWLS NEED GRIT

Conditions in Winter Season Are Vastly Different From Summer
When Hens Are Free.

When the hens are running in the field in summer they pick up and eat small sharp pieces of gravel which serve as grit to grind the food in the gizzard and keep the digestive organs in good shape. When the hens are confined to the houses during the winter they must have plenty of grit, and the commercial grit to be given in boxes and hoppers is the best, because it is the right size and is sharp.

"DIAMOND DYES" DON'T RUIN YOUR MATERIAL

Women! Don't Buy a Poor Dye That Fades, Streaks, or Runs

Each package of "Diamond Dyes" contains directions so simple that any woman can diamond-dye a new, rich, fadeless color into worn, shabby garments, draperies, coverings, whether wool, silk, linen, cotton or mixed goods.

Buy "Diamond Dyes"—no other kind—then perfect results are guaranteed even if you have never dyed before. Druggist has color card.

"How did you happen to get that association of yours into all this altercation?"

"The officers got together and thought we ought to do something to make the members feel they were getting action of some sort for their dues."—Washington Star.

Lift off Corns!

tween the toes, and the hard skin calluses from bottom of feet.

little at any drug store; apply a few drops upon the corn or callus. Instantly it stops hurting, then shortly you lift it off, root and all, without one bit of pain or soreness. Truly! No humbug

NEW SOUTH WALES

Has Enormous Capacity of Food Production.

The vast acreage of arable lands in New South Wales are rapidly becoming a factor in the food-producing power of the world. New South Wales has an area of 310,700 square miles, or as much territory as the combined area of the New England States plus New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, and a portion of Illinois. The climate is similar to that of Southern France, Southern California or Italy.
Everything that can be raised in a temperate or tropical climate will grow abundantly in New South Wales. In the northern part of the State, bananas, coffee, sugar-cane and passion-fruit grow side by side with potatoes, cereals, tobacco, onions, grapes, and cool-climate fruits. The products range from cotton to silk, olives, corn, barley and wheat.

New South Wales is to be classed as a "new country" and "The Last Great West." Already about six million acres of its lands are under crops. Forty million bushels of wheat are produced annually, and the wheat acreage is increasing by leaps and bounds.

The country is largely devoted to pastoral purposes, and wool is "king."

C. H. S. to Present "Blue Bird"

The students of the Campbell Union High School are exerting themselves to the utmost to make the May Festival this year as great a success as it has been in years past.

This year Materlink's masterpiece, The Blue Bird, is to be presented. Such a production is not usually given by high school students, so this is a rare opportunity to see a well known play produced successfully, for the very small sum of 50c.

The Blue Bird is a wholesome play, portraying the simple family life of a wood cutter, his wife and children, Mytyl and Tytyl. Now begins the story:

One evening when Mytyl and Tytyl have been tucked snugly in bed they dream that a fairy comes to them in search of happiness for her little girl, who is sick. She gives Mytyl a hat with a diamond in it, which, when turned, has the power of transferring them into fairyland.

The children then start upon their journey in search of Happiness, which is a bluebird.

On their journey they visit the Land of Memory, where they see their grandparents, Gaffer and Granny Tyt. In the Palace of Happiness, they see all the luxuries that people of the earth indulge in. After they have traversed many lands, they awake from their dream and tell Mamma and Daddy of their adventure.

But did they find the Blue Bird, and where was it? Well, that is a part of the story, and will be told to you the evenings of May 27 and 29, at 8 o'clock.

Now what child would not beg to see such a play—as well as the grown-ups? So don't forget the dates, and the exceedingly small sum that is asked for admission.

Seats reserved at the Campbell High School, beginning May 24.

Spray for Plant Pests

C. E. York, of the Agriculture department of Campbell schools, who is always glad to give information on plant and stock production, herewith gives a few remedies for plant diseases and pests.

The best and most common remedy for mildew is a fine sulphur application. A potassium sulphide spray, of 1 ounce to 2 to 4 gallons of water, is also good. Bordeaux mixture: 1 lb. copper sulphate and 1 lb. good lime in 10 gallons of water. Slake the lime in as little water as possible, then add to make 5 gallons of water; dissolve sulphate in 5 gallons of water. Mix before using, stirring thoroughly before spraying.

These remedies will not restore the leaves, but will stop the spread and save the plant.

The best treatment for aphids is Black Leaf 40, used according to directions.

Big Meeting May 24

The water question—There will be a public meeting of all farmers and others who are interested in the question of water in Santa Clara Valley, in the Odd Fellows Hall at Campbell, May 24, at 8 p. m. This is the most vital and serious proposition which we farmers, and not alone farmers, but all business interests, of this valley are up against.

The wells all over the valley are going dry. Every day reports are heard of some well giving out and yet nothing seems to be doing on the question of water. Valuable time is being wasted.

It is up to the farmers to help the water conservation committee financially. The committee needs money for the preliminary work and the only way now by which the committee can get money is by public subscription. The Board of Supervisors has appropriated $5,000, and other interests are helping. Let us farmers put our shoulders to the wheel and raise at least $5,000 more. Come to the meeting and talk it over.

Campbell Babies Score High

Welfare Day was held for a number of babies on Saturday, May 17, by the Good Cheer Branch at Campbell. Dr. E. P. Cook, of San Jose, and Dr. W. I. Merrill, of Campbell, weighed, measured, and carefully advised the mothers in the care of their children. Twenty-one children were in attendance.

The following babies were declared 100 per cent, and awarded prizes as follows:

Barbara McQueen, 15 months, Infant's spoon and fork set. Donated by Home and School Club.

Oiga Brydon, 4 years and 2 months, Breakfast set, given by Campbell Improvement Club.

Melvin Gerasci, 1 year, Second Infant Prize—a book on "Practical Care of Baby," presented by Dr. W. I. Merrill.

Robert Bydon, 2 years, 4 months, scored same, and obtained a silver spoon, given by Campbell Improvement Club.

Helen Robinson, Philip York and Ira Best received honorable mention.

Campbell may well be proud of its babies, for many other children scored very high in these tests.

Mrs. Davidson Called To Rest

Mrs. Ellen A. Davidson, who has been a constant sufferer for the past nine months, was released from her pain Thursday morning and passed to her reward.

Mrs. Davidson was born at Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, September 12, 1849, and was married to Mr. E. Davidson, in that city, at the age of 20 years.

Mr. Davidson was a veteran of the Civil War, and lies in the cemetery at Lake Geneva, where the body of his wife will be placed later.

The deceased made her home for ten years in the state of Nevada, and after her husband's death, one year in southern California and eight years in Campbell. She is survived by her only daughter, Mrs. D. H. Cramer.

Funeral services will be held Saturday, May 29, from Curry & Gripenstraw's parlors, at 10 o'clock, the Rev. W. H. Lloyd in charge. The remains will be placed in a vault at Oak Hill until after the close of school, when they will be taken to Wisconsin, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Cramer and sons.

Mrs. Cramer extended every sympathy, although no one can regret that her mother has been taken from her pain.

During the years she has spent in Campbell, Mrs. Davidson made a wide circle of friends thru her sweet, Christian character, taking an active interest in church and public affairs until failing health made it impossible.

The relatives request the omission of flowers.

Auto Victim Improves

Fred Hanger, who was the victim of an automobile accident last Friday night, is considered practically out of danger now, and is making a good recovery.

The collision occurred where the Los Gatos Road joins the highway at the R. E. Dunphy corner. An American Dairy truck was passing another machine, the lights from which blinded the driver, so that he failed to see Mr. Hanger, who was on his bicycle. The latter was knocked from his wheel, and suffered a bad fracture of the skull.

Jos. Bohnett was called and helped carry him to his brother's home a short distance away. Dr. W. I. Merrill attended the case, and as stated, the patient is doing very well.

Petition Circulated

Petitions to place a constitutional amendment upon the ballot at the November election to prohibit compulsory vaccination in public schools and universities of the state, are now ready for the signature of the voters, the Public School Protective league which is sponsoring the measure, announced today. These petitions are in the hands of thousands of persons thruout the state who will secure the necessary number of signatures to insure the measure a place on the ballot.

"The proposed law," said Dr. L. P. Crutcher, the president of the league, who is a practicing physician and former president of the Board of Education of Long Beach, "does not in any way attempt to interfere with vaccination or any other form of medical practice. It seeks only to prevent compulsion in these matters. Such a change in the law is most necessary in view of the campaign of propaganda which has been carried on for the last year in the endeavor to secure the vaccination of the school children of California, of whom 80 per cent, according to the state Board of Health, are unvaccinated because their parents have stated in writing that they are opposed to the practice of vaccination and will not consent thereto.
